```
def gushti cdi():
                                             <?php
    n = int(input())
                                             function gushti cdi() {
                                                  n = (int) fgets (STDIN);
    arr = list(map(int, input().split()))
    points = 0
                                                  $arr = explode(" ", fgets(STDIN));
    for i in range(n):
                                                  points = 0;
        if arr[i] == 0 and i != 0:
                                                  for ($i = 0; $i < $n; $i++) { idx = arr.index(max(arr[:i])) if ($arr[$i] == 0 && $i != 0) {
            points += arr[idx]
                                                          $maxVal = max(array slice($arr, 0, $i));
                                                          $idx = array_search($maxVal, $arr);
            arr[idx] = 0
    return points
                                                          $points += $arr[$idx];
                                                          \frac{\sin(\sin x)}{\sin(x)} = 0;
for in range(int(input())):
    print(gushti cdi())
                                                  return $points;
                                             $t = (int) fgets(STDIN);
                                             for ($i = 0; $i < $t; $i++) {
                                                  echo gushti cdi() . "\n";
                                              ?>
```